

ANNALS OF SURGERY

Aloe Vera gel for chronic radiation burns is worthwhile, while a tendency for the Aloe Vera to check keratonic development if it is started early.

There are instances of physician's hands that have been cared for with Alo Ointment or with the pure fresh gel; widespread resection and operation thus have been avoided.

Aloe Vera gel may bring about a reversal of the keratonic tendency of typical chronic radiation burns if started early and continued.